SHARING THE TRUTH

Truth is of its nature universal. Christ's message is truth. Whoever possesses truth, possesses a light. He possesses it for himself, but also for others. Whoever knows the true value of the light, loves to spread around him its beneficial rays. And if truth should be a necessity of life? As necessary as bread, for me and for others. As necessary as a sheet-anchor in mankind's universal shipwreck. "He who believes and is baptized shall be saved; but he who does not believe shall be condemned." (Mark 16:16)

And why should others perish because of a lack for which their own ignorance is not so much to blame as the one who failed to give them the means of salvation? Who would be judged with the greater severity, if others should lack the saving truth through our selfishness, our guilty omission? The one who had the gift of faith and did not communicate it to others, or the one who did not receive the gift because no apostle was found to communicate it? . . .

The lamp is not to be put under the bushel . . .

Pope Paul VI
